REGULATIONS

Screening Before and During the Festival

· The festival organizers determine the number of screenings, dates, times, and theaters for selected films.
· Under the name of the festival, selected films may be screened on domestic/foreign TV, online, and various media with prior consent from the copyright holder.

Promotional Materials

· Excerpts and screen captures of selected films may be used as promotional material.
· All materials submitted to the festival (screening copies, photos, etc.) will be used for promotional materials, including the festival's website, catalogs, and press releases.

Archiving

· The festival plans to actively promote continuous film screenings after the event.
- For this purpose, retaining the screening files and submitted materials is a principle.

Post-Festival Screening & Copyright (Property Rights)

· The festival may screen and utilize submitted works and materials during the festival period.
· The festival may screen and introduce winning works to other domestic or international film festivals and cultural centers for cultural exchange.
- No separate screening fees will be paid when used for non-commercial purposes as such.
· The festival may act as an agent for distributing winning entries using online, mobile, and other media.
· Winning entries may be screened for promotional purposes on the website and SNS for a necessary period after the festival ends.

Other Copyrights

· Entrants must resolve copyright issues for music, photos, videos, etc., used in their films prior to the festival screening.
· The festival does not individually check this with entrants and assumes no responsibility for any legal issues caused by copyright infringement.
· Valid contact information (E-mail, phone number) must be provided to receive immediate notifications regarding entry selection and other matters.

Consent

· The Festival Executive Committee considers that anyone who owns or represents the copyright of an entry agrees to the above rules upon submitting the application.
· If false information is provided in the application, entry qualifications will be revoked and selection canceled after consultation with the Executive Committee.
· The Festival Executive Committee reserves the right to decide on matters not covered in the above regulations.
